Possibility Of War Involving These Nations And Italy Agitating European Chancellories

JUGO-SLAV REPLY DELIVERED

Outcome Of Fiume Controversy Is
Awaited With Some Concern—
Italian View Not Known

(By United Press)
Geneva, Sept. 13.—The Italian government notified Switzerland it cannot accept arbitration of the Fiume dispute between Italy and Jugo-Slavia by the Swiss president, "owing to difficulties which might arise later between Italy and Switzerland."

Athens, Sept. 13.—The Jugo-Slav government has ordered closing of the Serb-Bulgarian frontier following extensive invasion of Jugo-Slav territory by large bands of armed Bulgarians, a telegram from Belgrade said today.

By LLOYD ALLEN
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
London, Sept. 13.—Possibility of a Jugo-Slav-Italian war within 72 hours was agitating the chancellories of Europe today while they awaited anxiously for the terms of Belgrade's reply to the ultimatum of Premier Mussolini of Italy, demanding acceptance of the Italian thesis for settlement of the Fiume controversy by Saturday.

It was understood the Jugo-Slav reply already has reached Rome and is being studied by the Italian foreign office. The decision of war or peace will depend on the Italian view of the communication.

Great Britain, for the moment, is not directly concerned in the dispute and there is little likelihood she will be personally involved although statesmen realize the dangers of a new general European conflagration.

France is in the most delicate position of the outside powers, since she has close ties with both the little entente and Italy and is sure to create bitter resentment which ever side she supports. It is almost impossible for Premier Poincare to remain neutral.

The chief danger, as viewed by statesmen here, lies in the untrained exercise of Premier Mussolini's enthusiasm for entrance into a campaign of Italian prestige and expansion. This is the program France wants to curb.

Some British circles charge Mussolini with imitation of Napoleon's policy of blustering up his position at home by external wars. There can be no doubt but that Italian patriotism has been stirred to the fever.

TRASH BURNS, ALARM SENT IN

Dense Smoke at Arcade Pool Room
Cause of Run By Department

Trash accumulations burning in the furnace of the Arcade pool room, located on the north side of the court house, provided a fire scare Wednesday night at 8:50 o'clock, when the smoke gave the appearance of a smoldering fire in the business block. The dense smoke appeared to be coming from the Fred A. Caldwell furniture store, 122 East Second street, and the street and alleys were filled with smoke.

An alarm was turned in from box 132, Second and Main streets, which brought out all of the equipment from the fire station, and after the firemen investigated, they returned to the station. Shortly afterwards the chemical truck was called back for a further investigation, and the real cause of the smoke was determined.

FARMER NEEDS NO CREDIT BUT MARKETS

Evans Woolen, Indianapolis Banker
Discusses Agriculture Conditions
Before Relators

HITS INSTALLMENT BUYING

(By United Press)
Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 13.—The farmers need is not for more credit but for better markets, Evans Woolen, Indianapolis banker, declared today before the Indiana real estate convention.

"The farmer is buying on one price level and selling on another," Woolen said.

"He is paying higher freight rates, more taxes, much more interest and larger wages."

"Prosperity of the nation can not endure if purchasing power as important as that of the farmer is impaired. The two price levels can not be brought together by legislative tinkering."

"Schemes for enlarged agricultural credit are more likely to hurt than to help. The farmer's need is for better markets. His market can be improved only by curtailed and diversified production and by the restoration of European demands."

Woolen declared our financial structure is being weakened by "the unbelievable extension of installment buying."

ANTI-GOVERNMENT COUP IS REPORTED

Military Garrisons at Madrid, Sar-gosa and Seville Join in Barce-lonia Uprising

SQUADRON ORDERED TO DUTY

(By United Press)
Paris, Sept. 13.—The Spanish government has ordered a naval squadron to proceed immediately to Barcelona, the Madrid correspondent of Letemps telegraphed this afternoon.

Madrid, (3:30 p. m.) Sept. 13.—The captain general of Madrid told newspapermen this afternoon the local garrison was disposed to respect the orders of the government. The captain general awaits the arrival of the king to obey the orders of his monarch.

Paris, Sept. 13.—The military garrisons in Madrid, Sargosa and Seville have joined an anti-government coup of the garrison in Barcelona, according to advices to L'Intransigent.

The newspaper says the military units are acting under Captain Primo de Rivera.

Martial law has been effective in Barcelona since 3 a. m.

It is rumored that Foreign Minister Alba has been captured by the revolutionaries.

The military leaders plan to prosecute the present cabinet for failure to act against the Catalonia separatists and to carry on an urgent campaign against the Moroccan rebels.

Madrid, Sept. 13.—At 4 p. m., today conditions in Madrid were normal and communication had been re-established with the provinces.

PAPER WORTH $40,000 TAKEN

Certificates Stolen From Desk Of Indianapolis Bank This Afternoon

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 13.—Forty thousand dollars worth of United States certificates were taken from the desk in the Indiana National Bank, this afternoon by a thief, who walked from the bank without detection.

The certificates were negotiable government securities. The certificates were on the desk of Edward Moore, vice president of the bank. According to Frank Stalnaker, president of the bank, Moore left his desk to answer the telephone and when he returned the securities were missing.

"Other bank officers were sitting at their desks surrounding Moore's desk but they saw no one whom they suspected," Stalnaker said.

Policemen and private detectives were put on the trail of the robber immediately after the theft was discovered but they had no clue to his identity.

SCHOOL ENROLLMENT IN SLIGHT DECREASE

Kindergarten Makes Up Loss Due to Jackson Township Pupils Not Attending Here

SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL 1 LESS

School enrollment in Rushville showed a decrease of seventeen as compared with last year, according to a report today by J. H. Schell, superintendent of schools, who listed the attendance at each of the buildings in the city.

Enrollment at this time is 1,058 and last year during the first week of school it was 1,075. Although the kindergarten was started this year as a part of the public school system, and should increase attendance, it is offset by the Jackson township pupils who attended Rushville schools last year, but are back in their own buildings this year. The total given above does not include 70 pupils attending St. Mary's parochial school. The senior high school only lost one, while the junior high school fell off 21 in enrollment, according to the following figures.

TWO DESTROYERS LIMP INTO PORT

Sommers And Farragut Not Previously Reported to Have Gone on
Rocks With 7 Others

HAVE A THRILLING ESCAPE

Both Destroyers Following in Wake
of Ill-Fated Ones, Barely Miss
Meeting Same Fate

San Diego, Calif., Sept. 13.—Nine destroyers, instead of seven as reported ran on the rocks at Point Arguella Saturday night, it was learned today.

The Sommers and the Farragut limped into port here during the night, badly crippled, pumps working to keep water out of their holds and with tales of their thrilling escape from the fate that overtook their sister ships of the destroyer flotilla.

The two destroyers that escaped, damaged, from the peril of the rocks were following in single file the seven that piled up.

Plunging through the seas at the rate of twenty knots an hour on the fatal night the look-out on the Farragut perceived something had gone wrong with the vessels ahead.

"Man overboard" was his instinctive cry and acting on standing instructions to destroyer fleets in battle formation, the Sommers and Farragut veered off to the right and believed in order not to hit the man they believed to be in the water. It was this action that saved the vessels and possibly the lives of the crews.

The pilots were not quick enough, however, to avoid the impending danger ahead and the Farragut collided with the Fuller, one of the vessels now left to die on the rocks, while the Sommers, hit another vessel which the crew believes to be the ill-fated Young. The Young later capsized and is believed to contain within its hold the 19 seamen still missing.

After the Farragut struck the Fuller, it ploughed on through the melee of ships and struck the rocks. Quick action on the part of the commander caused it to reverse its engines and the boat managed to drag itself off to safety, although a large hole was torn in its sides.

The Sommers grounded after striking the other vessel and also made its way to safety.

The crews and officers escaped injury. So serious was the damage suffered by both vessels that it took them from Saturday night until yesterday afternoon to reach port.

SNOW FLURRIES REPORTED

Frost And Cold Winds Bring First
Hint Of Winter Weather

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Snow flurries and frost, accompanied by cold north winds, today gave the north west and Great Lakes region first indications of approaching winter.

Snow flurries were reported from Northern Minnesota and Upper Michigan. Frost blanketed wheat fields from Montana to Michigan. Cold winds were especially noticed in Chicago, Detroit and the Lakes country.

Heavy frosts at this time will materially damage late crops, according to crop experts.

The present cold snap will not continue longer than tonight, however according to predictions. Rising temperatures are booked for tomorrow.

Those who feel that they will give to aid the stricken Japanese people are requested to send the money at once to Miss Nora Sleeth, county recorder, who is county treasurer of the Rush county chapter of the Red Cross, which was given the responsibility of raising five million dollars for the earthquake sufferers.

Gordon's home is in Bluffton.

WEEKLY REHEARSAL IS HELD

Community Orchestra Prepares For
Concert at Memorial Park

The Community orchestra held their weekly rehearsal Wednesday night in the Coliseum at the city park, and the musicians are rounding into shape rapidly under the directorship of A. P. Wagoner. The community orchestra is making plans to give a free open-air concert in the park, probably the last Sunday afternoon this month.

The musicians number about 30, and they are from this city, and from many points throughout the county. The organization is practicing on some of the latest musical numbers, as well as classical pieces, and there is little doubt but what the orchestra will be equal to any similar undertaking ever formed in the city.

TOTAL TAX LEVIES TO BE KNOWN SOON

May be Computed For Each Taxing
Unit As Soon As State Rate Is
Received Here

IS EXPECTED ON ANY DAY

Noble And Walker Townships Are
Last to File Their Rates, Latter
Making Reduction

Just as soon as the state tax levy for 1924 is made by the state board of tax commissioners and is certified to the county auditor here, rates in every taxing unit in the county for next year will be computed and taxpayers will then be able to determine whether their taxes will be more or less than this year.

All of the taxing units in Rush county have filed their newly made levies with the county auditor, with the exception of Glenwood, officers of which notified the auditor that the combined rate would be the same as this year. They were asked to certify that fact to the auditor.

The last townships to file a notice of having fixed their levies for 1924 were Noble and Walker, and although the former showed a slight increase over this year, the latter made a big reduction. Walker town—Continued on Page Seven

POSTMASTERS OF COUNTY INVITED

All in Third and Fourth Class Urged
to Attend National Convention at Chattanooga

TO BE HELD OCT. 8, 9 AND 10

All third and fourth class postmasters in Rush county are urged to attend the annual convention of the National League of Postmasters of the third and fourth class, which will be held at Chattanooga, Tenn., Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, October 8, 9 and 10.

The welcome typical of the southland is promised the several thousand servants of Uncle Sam who will be in almost complete possession of this historic city during the three days of the labors of the convention.

Indiana enjoys a distinction not given to any other state in the union in the fact that the destinies of the organization are shaped by a Hoosier postmaster, John T. Clapp, of Beech Grove Ind., who fills the position of National President, while Hon. Harry S. New, a distinguished Indianan, is postmaster general in President Coolidge's Cabinet, and Indiana postmasters are being urged to attend the 1923 convention, which, in point of program and general entertainment, promises to make history for the organization. The invitation to Indiana third and fourth class postmasters to attend the Chattanooga convention promises to insure a record attendance from Indiana, which hopes to have the honor of having the largest delegate body in attendance. Reduced fares have been secured on the railroads, while the distance is not so great but that Indiana postmasters who are the owners of cars could make the trip with much profit and enjoyment by following the historic trails which lead to the southern city.

COURT QUIET DUE TO CLOSING CASE

Little Business Transacted On Account Of Trial Set For Today
Being Unnecessary

$7,500 CLAIM COMING UP

Demand Of Stella Beck Against Estate Of William Dagler To
Be Heard Friday

Little business was transacted in the circuit court today, on account of the Wallace case not being tried, and the jury will be called for service Friday, to hear a civil suit of Stella Beck against the Dagler estate, in which the plaintiff is seeking to recover on a claim.

The Frank Wallace case was scheduled today, but on account of the defendant appearing yesterday and entering a plea of guilty to a count in a liquor law indictment, it caused a vacancy on the court calendar today.

In the suit starting tomorrow, Mrs. Stella Beck is seeking $7,500 judgment on her claim filed against the estate of her father, the late William Dagler, who died in March. She alleges that the money is due her for services rendered her father in his last illness. J. V. Young is the administrator of the estate.

The case may require more than one day, as the plaintiff has summoned about 25 witnesses.

Among the new suits placed on file today, is a divorce complaint in which William Shane, 221 Washington street, is plaintiff and Bertha Shane, defendant. A similar divorce suit was dismissed a few weeks ago. Mr. Shane alleges that they were married June 9, 1917 and separated March 18, 1921.

He charges that his wife used profane and vile language, too vulgar even to be written in the complaint, he says, and that also she was guilty of associating with other men of bad repute, and for immoral purposes, seeking the divorce on these grounds.

The Public Savings Insurance Company is plaintiff in a suit filed today against Earl Bever, et al, in which the insurance company seeks to foreclose a mortgage, and demands $10,000 judgment on a promissory note, which is alleged to be past due, and for which a farm was given as security.

Georgia West has filed a petition in court, in which she desires to have the court change her name to Georgia Newland.

TOWN'S INHABITANTS THOUGHT TO BE SAFE

Terrific Storms And Small Tidal
Wave Wipe Out Jose DeCabo,
Lower California

SUPERSTITION SAVED LIVES

Mexicali, Lower Cal., Sept. 13.—Terrific storms and a small tidal wave that drove in from the Pacific and caused great damage in Lower California over last week-end may have completely wiped out the entire fishing village of Jose DeCabo, according to wireless advices today. The town's 500 inhabitants are believed to have escaped.

Lower California state government officials were without official word of the reported disaster early today.

An unofficial report, picked up by the wireless station here said that a severe storm swept the entire Lower California coast Saturday and that the village was seriously damaged. Relief, it was said, is being rushed from Mazatlan.

Superstitious fear of the coming eclipse of the sun was declared responsible for the fact that no lives were lost. The natives rushed to nearby hills as soon as the mountainous seas arose, believing this fearsome manifestation of nature was connected with the solar phenomenon.

JAPAN SMILES IN FACE OF DISASTER

The following dispatch from Tokio was filed not long after the disaster, but was delayed for many days. Though several days old, it gives the picture of the disaster's magnitude and Japan's attitude towards it.

By CLARENCE DUBOSE
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Tokio, Japan, (Delayed)—I never knew what the Japanese spirit was like until I saw millions of homeless refugees; vast privations; terrible suffering and indescribable loss visited upon the nation and still not a single whimper audible.

Torn and twisted, the beloved, capital city of the nation, was wrenched into instant wreckage; jumbled in one mad moment into a single huge heap of junk and then burned.

Yet, Japan continues to smile. Already working among the ruins, the spirit that made Japan a great power in half a century, is seen on every hand.

It is the spirit that will rebuild Tokio, although years will be required.

In Yokohama dead bodies clog the canals like logs in a river jam. The congested slums and poorer quarters of both Tokio and Yokohama are thick with half burned corpses scarcely distinguishable from the charred timbers that trapped them.

When the earthquake came, great buildings swayed and pitched like ships in a heavy sea. Then throughout the area of 100 miles or more from Tokio southward and many miles wide literally every structure crumpled instantly into complete or partial wreckage.

Fire followed and, in a veritable inferno, destroyed almost everything that remained, completely obliterating the heart of Japan's richest business and industrial sections.

In many places the ground buckled up into ridges. Great fissures opened.

Most of the big factories and mills collapsed, each crushing thousands of workers.

The next two nights were hideous. Millions of refugees roamed aimlessly about, carrying a pitiful handful of possessions and paper lanterns—millions of paper lanterns blinking through the hellish night and each representing one family's ruin.

Over the crackling of the fire came shrill voices calling the names of missing relatives, hoping for response—but not one wail of despair did I hear.

ERNEST WARTHER, MAKER OF MODELS

Perhaps the most interesting of the exhibits to be carried by the "Service Progress Special" of the New York Central Lines, which is to tour six states in four months, including Indiana, is that of the working models showing the evolution of transportation, made by Ernest Warther of Dover, Tuscarawas county, Ohio.

The train will enter Indiana September 15, to spend a month in the state, and is scheduled to be in Rushville Monday, October 8. The train will be here from one to five o'clock in the afternoon so that everyone will have an opportunity to inspect it.

Correct replicas of each step in engine evolution, from Sir Isaac Newton's "Tea Kettle" which would not run, to the latest type of modern main line Pacific fast passenger.

The exhibits form a complete history of the evolution of transportation and a complete picture of railroad condition as they are today. Recently in an official announcement, President Harding called upon the people of the United States to make a study of transportation, with special reference to the railroads.

Shortly afterwards, S. J. Lowell, Master of the National Grange, and O. E. Bradfute, President of the American Farm Bureau Federation, by letters urged upon President Smith that authentic facts upon the railroad situation be placed directly before the farmers, in order that agriculture might have been a better understanding of railroad conditions.

President Smith developed the idea of a train of exhibits and directed the Agricultural Department of his railroad to arrange for it. The result is the "Service-Progress Special", which beginning June 18, at Cleveland, Ohio, will for four months travel over the 13,000 miles of New York Central Lines in Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Pennsylvania, and New York.

Up-to-the-minute moving pictures have been filmed, which present every phase of modern railroading. These pictures include the shipping of grain, fruit, and live-stock from points in the middle west.

These moving pictures follow these cars and show just how they are made up into trains and moved to the great interchange terminals and stopping at feeding stations and icing plants and started on to sea-board destinations.

Special arrangements have been

put into effect for visits to the train by scholars of the public and high schools and university students for special study under the supervision of their instructors. Tax officials and other State administrative officers have made many suggestions which have been carried out and are included in the exhibits.

One of the unique features of the train is the exhibit devoted to taxation. People are viewing the great increases in the bonded debt of Federal, State and local governments with real alarm. Within the last few years, taxes and bonded debts have doubled and trebled.

The New School Year

It is "some day," as they say in street talk, when the kids start out for the school house on that first morning of the school term, spick and span in new clothes, and unnaturally clean from much washing, combing, and scrubbing.

An inspiring spectacle, to see all these eager young faces, full of confidence in their ability to do things happy in anticipations of fun and frolic. Also a day of pleasant thoughts for parents, who hope that nine months of schooling will put their young folks a considerable distance along the paths of attainment.

Our citizens contribute liberally to provide good schools. But education can not be bought, paid for, and delivered as you buy groceries and dry goods. You can't turn your children into them like raw material fed into an automatic machine, and expect to get the finished product without effort on your own part. The homes and the citizens must co-operate with the school work.

First, the homes must back up the schools. A school without cordial support from the parents is likely to be as ineffective as a ball team without a good crowd of rooters on the grand stand.

Second, parents ought to have some little idea about the purposes of modern education, so that they will support improved methods. The "Three R's" type of education, was all right for the days of stage coaches, but it won't keep up with an age of automobiles and airplanes.

Third, the public must do its best to retain good teachers. It is a nerve straining job to handle a school room full of restless youngsters in this rapid age. The teacher who inspires those young folks to worthy aims is a priceless treasure. Give her so much appreciation and friendship, that she will hate to go elsewhere even when offered more money.

In such ways the people of Rush county can assist in obtaining schools for our community so superior that young people will go out from them to success and achievement.

The Restless Age

Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver, who has a habit of saying something sensational every now and then to arouse discussion, brought down

WATSON SPEAKS TO IMMENSE
CROWD AT KANSAS CITY PICNIC

A copy of the Kansas City Times which is the morning edition of the Kansas City Star, has been received here, giving an account of an address made by Senator, James E. Watson of this city last Friday night at a republican picnic at Electric park, in which he is described as having "poured the proverbial bucket of fire down the back of democracy."

"On the stage," says this newspaper, after describing the setting at the park pavilion, "was Senator Jim Watson of Indiana—By-The-Eternals' Jim—prancing up and down and waving his arms preaching a sermon on Republicanism as it was preached in the days of the torch-light parade and the plug hat statesman—and sermon of political hellfire and denunciation."

The crowd was declared to be one of the largest, if not the largest crowd that ever crowded into the park pavilion, being estimated at more than 3,000, and Senator Watson completed with the noise-making contraptions of the amusement park for one and one-half hours. He is reported to have said that he would like to have talked longer, but—"I can't compete with that thing," he explained. "It's tearing my throat to pieces."

Up to that time, however Mr. Watson had discussed the Donkey in a partisan post mortem, and had described in detail the iniquitous symptoms of rabies, with which, he declared, it was afflicted. Also, he had joyfully pointed with pride to the glorious achievements of the Elephant.

The crowd was demonstrative, interrupting Senator Watson repeatedly with cheers and applause. At the very outset, after R. R. Brewster had introduced Mr. Watson as a statesman worthy of the presidency, a man in the crowd yelled:

"We were for you in Indiana, and we are for you now!"

"All right," replied the senator. "That makes two of us. If we keep on, we'll have a party soon!"

The crowd's cheers interrupted the Indianan, but he went on:

"This boom for me reminds me of the time they wanted to nominate Uncle Joe Cannon. Uncle Joe told them they might go a little further and do a damned sight worse. And they did!"

"We are standing on the threshold of a great campaign," Senator Watson said. "The Republican party must prove its right to win. We appeal to our record and challenge the Democrats to appeal to the past."

"When the Republican party took over the government in 1921, there were 5 million idle men in the country. Today every willing hand finds work at a remunerative wage. That, alone, in my opinion, should be sufficient to return the party to power. The Indiana senator recalled the depression following the war, inherited by the Harding administration from the Democratic regime of Woodrow Wilson.

"When the Republican party went into power in 1921, the railroads had been under government control; the railroads were 'McAdooed.' There were 170,000 more men employed to

upon his head the censure of ministers and reformers yesterday when he asserted that the economic independence of women and their refusal to be dominated by men are contributing to the great increase in divorces.

Social workers in many large centers were interviewed regarding their views of Lindsey's statement and none agreed with his broad assertions. Some were in accord on the view, however, that we can not have a lowering of the old standards of modesty and dress and deportment without a corresponding falling off in the old moral standards.

Reformers and uplifters generally have become very much concerned about the morals of the present generation of young folks and opinions vary to the extent of the alleged degenerating influence of the present age.

Whatever may be the true conditions, it is at least certain that young people are no different than they were in years past. If all that is said of them is true, it is not their fault. They are brought into the world and their destinies are shaped by others. If they fall into evil ways, it is because they have followed an example that was bad.

The responsibility is clearly on the shoulders of parents and all people of mature years who should remember that they may be a model by which some young life is being fashioned.

do the work than ever before." Senator Watson charged that government control was used for political purposes by the Democratic regime; he said wages were increased to get votes, and line up the rail workers for McAdoo for president. The crowd cheered when Senator Watson declared he was opposed to "government ownership of anything." "Government ownership means the politicalization of the men employed, and it means waste and extravagance," he said. "If we own the railroads, it would be easy to add the telegraph and the telephone, and finally the farms. That would lead to plutocracy, then aristocracy, then bureaucracy, then socialism, and then you'd have hell!"

Senator Watson then launched into a discussion of the league of nations. At the outset he announced the Republican party was opposed to "dragging America into the league under any consideration."

"I had hoped the league would be an agency for peace in Europe," Senator Watson said. "Since the treaty was signed, however, France has invaded the Ruhr and Italy has taken possession of Corfu. This certainly was an act of war and a violation of at least four articles of the covenant. What happened? The council met and solemnly took a recess."

Senator Watson asked the crowd if it desired to have a part in the troubles of Europe and the crowd roared, "No!"

Touching on immigration, Senator Watson said he favored restriction of immigration, and would accept only those who qualified in examinations in their native country before embarking.

The arms limitation conference, called by the late President Harding soon after he went into office, was described by the senator as the greatest movement ever inaugurated among men for the pacification of the earth. He praised the bold spirit of American statesmanship in the conference, and declared President Harding's move for peace entitled him to the "admiration of the earth."

Senator Watson quoted figures to show how the budget system, inaugurated by the Harding regime, had saved the nation billions. He said the expenses would be reduced from 6,400 million in 1920 to 3,000 million in 1924.

In mentioning Iowa, Senator Watson took a jab at Senator Brookhart for attempting to make the farmers believe the "plutoocrats are in power," and that the "big interests" are being favored as against the farmers.

Much of the hard times of the farmers, Senator Watson declared, was due to the political methods of the Democrats. In 1920, he said, the Democrats retaliated to G. O. P. charges that the Democrats had caused the high cost of living by calling in loans through the federal reserve banks. The farmers had nothing to pledge, so they had to hurry their products to market, and the bottom fell out.

The Republican tariff law, he declared, had saved the wool and sheep industry and had saved agriculture from utter despair.

After being out from 3:55 to 8:10 o'clock Saturday evening, the jury in the Lelar Coleman murder trial returned a verdict of acquittal and the woman who was accused with complicity in one of the most brutal and horrible crimes ever committed in this county, was given her freedom. Despite the desperate effort of her former lover and paramour, Leslie Bandrant, to drag her into the murder of her husband, twelve men who sat through the story related by the self-confessed murderer, voted that the woman was innocent beyond all reasonable doubt.

FEW CHANGES IN FOOTBALL RULES

Practically Same Rules Will be Used On Gridiron This Fall as Were in Effect Last Season

KICK RULE IS CHANGED

No Player on Kickers Side May Recover Ball Until It Has Touched An Opponent

By HEZE CLARK
(Written for United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 13.—With slight changes football will be played this fall under the regulations governing the gridiron game in 1922.

The most important alteration is the elimination of the "on-side" kick. No player of the kicker's side even if he was behind the kicker may recover the ball until it has touched an opponent, except in case the ball did not cross the line of scrimmage.

For many years, coaches have been fighting to get the "on-side" kick put out of the game, while other coaches have contended that the kick should be retained because of the possibilities for trick plays.

However, it is pointed out that there will be many tricks developed where the ball does not cross the line of scrimmage, and therefore can be captured and carried by a player of the kicker's side who kicked the ball or who was behind the kicker when it was kicked.

There has been a slight change in the rule governing where certain penalties are inflicted. Another rule, where new wording makes the meaning clear to officials and players is that of the infliction of penalties for fouls occurring after a touch-down, touchback, or safety.

It is made plain that if a foul is committed following a touch down and before the occurrence of another play, the penalty shall be inflicted from the spot of the succeeding kick-off, or if following a touch back, or safety, the penalty shall be from the spot of the succeeding play.

The position of players on and behind the scrimmage line has been stated more clearly, and the same is true in regard to "players in motion" before the ball is snapped.

A splendid feature of this year's football rules is the section devoted to "approved rulings" which will be a real help to gridiron officials.

It will improve the officiating and therefore will make football more interesting to both players and the public.

Figures Dempsey in 6 Rounds

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Sept. 13.—When the gong rang for the first round of the Willard-Dempsey heavyweight championship fight in Toledo on July 4, 1919, Dempsey walked slowly from his corner and circled around the huge Willard. He feinted him five times with his left hand, until Willard stuck out his long left arm. Dempsey then crashed over a right hand punch under the heart, hooked a left to the jaw, and Willard went down.

Willard was tricked into a trap that he had never expected. He thought Dempsey would rush from his corner and charge into him like a wildcat, and when he didn't Willard was completely bewildered.

With Dempsey, that attack was a carefully preconceived plan. He did not do it because Willard was a bigger man. He changed his usual tactics because he knew that Willard was not in shape, that the intense heat of the day and the excitement of the moment had his heart almost popping out of his side, and he shot a first punch at that very evident weak spot—the heart.

Luis Firpo would like to know how Dempsey will come out of his corner tomorrow night when they meet at the Polo Grounds. He would like to know what kind of an attack Dempsey will carry against him, where he will shoot at first and how he will work around to it. Thousands of fans would like to know the same thing.

Firpo is almost in perfect condition. He is a better man now than Jess Willard ever was. The medical examiner of the boxing commission, who looked him over expressed the opinion that the South American has a better heart than Dempsey.

Perhaps Dempsey will shoot his right hand at the heart and hook the left to the jaw. Perhaps he won't. Only Dempsey knows what he will do, and perhaps Dempsey will not be sure until the breaks of the first round decide his course for him.

Dempsey will land the first punch and perhaps the entire outcome of the fight depends on where that first punch lands and how much there is behind him.

If the champion gets the openings and has his old kick behind the punches, he may finish the fight in five or six socks.

Firpo, fighting his usual style, may require five or six dozen punches. He is not a snappy hitter, there is no one punch knockout in his fists, and he relies upon the effects of a flock of punches to get what Dempsey gets out of just a few.

Dempsey ought to beat Firpo to every punch, but he cannot avoid being hit, and if the South American lands several of his wild wings to the body, Dempsey will close a lot of the steam in his blows.

Firpo is a very slow starter. It took him eight rounds to get going against Bill Brennan and he looked bad for five rounds of the fight with Jess Willard. In marked contrast, Dempsey is a dynamic starter, and he is able to maintain a terrific speed.

Before his fight with Tom Gibbons, some experts, going back to the Toledo fight when Dempsey faded in the second and third rounds against Willard, expressed the opinion that the first hard hitter who could stay six rounds with Dempsey would beat him. But Dempsey went fifteen rounds against Gibbons as fast as any lightweight in the business.

Big and strong as he is, hard hitting as he is with his right hand, Firpo is not going to be a sucker for Dempsey. It is permissible to bring in a qualification that he will not be easy if he owns a real game heart and, nothing has been shown in his fights that would justify a belief to the contrary.

Firpo may go to the floor several times, but it is going to take a hard punch and a lot of steam to keep him there, and if he comes up many times, as many times as Willard did in Toledo, Dempsey will become a very tired young man.

Regardless of what experienced skill and boxing he is said to lack, Firpo is a natural fighter with a peculiar and, so far, a very effective style. He has done everything that was asked of him and has done it in convincing style.

It is a big assignment for him to go against the world's champion and the greatest fighter of the day without more experience but, as has been pointed out, he is about as good now as he ever will be.

Firpo has a good chance to beat Dempsey. He has the best chance of any of the fighters seeking the championship. Willard quit cold when he fought Dempsey in Toledo, and his own density caused him to miss a chance to retain the championship when Dempsey was not in the ring to answer the gong for the second round.

Firpo is just as big as Willard, just as good as Willard and no doubt he has a better heart. He, at least, will fight back and he fights his best when he is hurt and when the going is bad against him.

On what they have shown in their fights up to the present time, Dempsey looks like he ought to win in six rounds.

But Firpo can't be figured on what has happened before. It's almost sure that he will give Dempsey the hardest fight the champion has ever had, and he has a chance to win the title.

WIN DOUBLES CHAMPIONSHIP

Russell Tittsworth And D. D. Drago
Defeat Ryan And Arbuckle

Russell Tittsworth and D. D. Drago won the doubles championship finals in the county tourney Wednesday afternoon, defeating the team composed of Thomas Ryan and Gordon Arbuckle in all three games, 6 to 4, 8 to 6, and 6 to 2.

The feature of the finals was the smashing net plays of Tittsworth and the well placed shots of Ryan. Considerable interest was displayed in the county tourney, as several pairs were entered, and many singles were played. The tournament has been under way for several weeks to decide the winners.

The Score Board

With two wins over the White Sox at 2-1 and 5-3 the New York Yanks took two more jumps toward the American League pennant and became practically an official-coinch for the championship.

Burleigh Grimes fanned the slugging Cy Williams with two on base during a ninth inning rally and the Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the Phils, 6 to 4.

Four runs in the fourth inning and two in the twelfth off Mordridge gave the Tigers a 6 to 4 victory over the Senators.

Eppa Rixey won the decision over Alexander in a tight battle and the Reds blanked the Cubs, 4 to 0. The game completed 3 innings in which the Cubs have failed to score a run.

MILLION AND HALF IN GATE RECEIPTS

Estimate on Attendance at Dempsey-Firpo Heavyweight Bout Places Number at 90,000

LIMITED BY ACCOMMODATIONS

Counting Scalpers Rakeoff, It Is Believed Two Million Will be Spent To See Fight

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

New York, Sept. 13.—More than a million and half dollars worth of customers will see Jack Dempsey and Luis Firpo do their demonstration of fight against might at the Polo Grounds tomorrow night.

The latest estimates from the office of Tex Rickard set the prospective receipts at about $1,500,000 and the attendance at 90,000.

Such tremendous interest has developed in the contest between the "mighty" Dempsey and the "mighty" Firpo that the attendance will be limited only by the restricted accommodations at the ball park and the unofficial receipts will be bounded only by what the fans will stand for in the way of extortion from the ticket scalpers.

Estimates today after a canvass of the ticket broker offices after the illegal scalpers work set the price which New York and outside points will pay for the fight at close to two million dollars.

Tickets from the $5.50 variety up to the tops at $27.50 that have fallen into the hands of the "species" are bringing from $8.80 up to $150. The choice seats in the first eight rows are bringing in five times their value.

Some $15 and $20 seats were still available at the box office this morning and some top price seats in the back rows. Rickard said that he felt he would go to the grounds tomorrow night with a "sold out" house.

Firpo was installed under an effective guard of countrymen at a Riverside drive apartment today. He arrived last night from Atlantic City and was hustled out of a big crowd of Latinos that had gathered to greet him.

The South American was to establish a new precedent for "day before the battle" ceremonies by attending a banquet and love feast to be given in his honor today by the Spanish society of New York. The program called for the donation to him, in addition to large quantities of native food, of many feet of rabbits, shoes of horses, pieces of clover and other good luck things by which it is hoped he can topple over Dempsey.

Firpo's plans were not announced for the day but it was learned that he might do a little work on the bridle path in Central Park and loosen up at the gymnasium in Madison Square Garden.

The champion was not due here until tomorrow morning. He decided upon a boat trip down the Hudson from Albany and will not get in until early tomorrow morning. Dempsey is not going to any banquet in his honor.

Odds lengthened today to 3 to 1 that Dempsey would retain his title. The largest bet offered was $30,000 to $10,000 on the champion and it was being gobbled up in small bites.

In the opinion of most of the experts the champion is almost a cinch victor and they are predicting that the duration of the fight will depend only on how much punishment the South American is able to take.

Predictions of a Dempsey victory in 3 or 4 rounds predominate, but enthusiasm for the champion may be overcoming better judgment on the part of his friends.

Being unskilled and rather inexperienced, Firpo is rightly on the short end of the betting. His chances of winning the title depend almost entirely on his ability to stand up in front of punching. There has been no indication of a weak heart in his previous fights and it is hard to figure why such a bigstrong, heavy-hitting fighter should be looked up on as a short round loser.

There are too many "ifs" to overcome in doping this fight and there is too little known about how much Firpo can take and as far as that goes it has never been established how much Dempsey can take.

On form, Dempsey should win in seven or eight rounds. Whether he will remain to be seen.

As long as he is in the ring, Firpo has a chance and the longer he remains on his feet the better his chances will become.

Mrs. Quillon Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her from an Operation

Muskegon, Michigan. —"After doctoring for eight or nine years with different physicians without any relief at all, they said at last that medicine would not reach my case and I should have an operation. I had heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and often saw it advertised in different papers where some women had suffered just as I did and got well and strong again by taking the Vegetable Compound. I decided to see what it would do for me, and before I had finished the fourth bottle I was much better, the weakness stopped and the severe pains in my sides left me. I am now much stronger and do my own work and work in the factory besides. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound and give it all the praise." —Mrs. NELLIE QUILLON, 17 Morris St., Muskegon, Mich.

Women should heed such warning symptoms as bearing-down pains and weakness, for they indicate some female trouble, and a persistent and faithful use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will seldom fail to help.

King Tut's Tomb Is Seen

The news of the explorations at the recently discovered tomb of King Tut-Ankh-Amen near Luxor, Egypt, which has been foremost in the mind of the public for many weeks has now reached the screen in a permanent historical record of the greatest sensation in the history of modern scientific circles. William Fox has produced a single reel feature entitled "The Land of Tut-Ankh-Amen" which starts an engagement Friday at the Mystic theatre.

It was through the accidental discovery of a stone step hidden in the sand near Luxor, that the burial place of this Pharaoh, who lived about 1350 B. C. was explored. The excited native workers are shown clearing away the sand around other ruins in the vicinity of the tomb. The entire Valley of the Kings is full of visitors and the excitement runs high as each day new discoveries are reported.

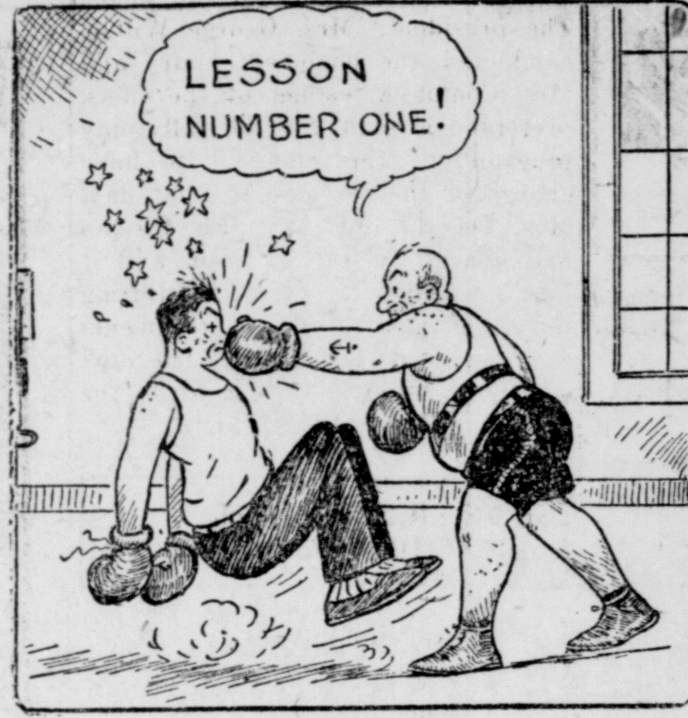

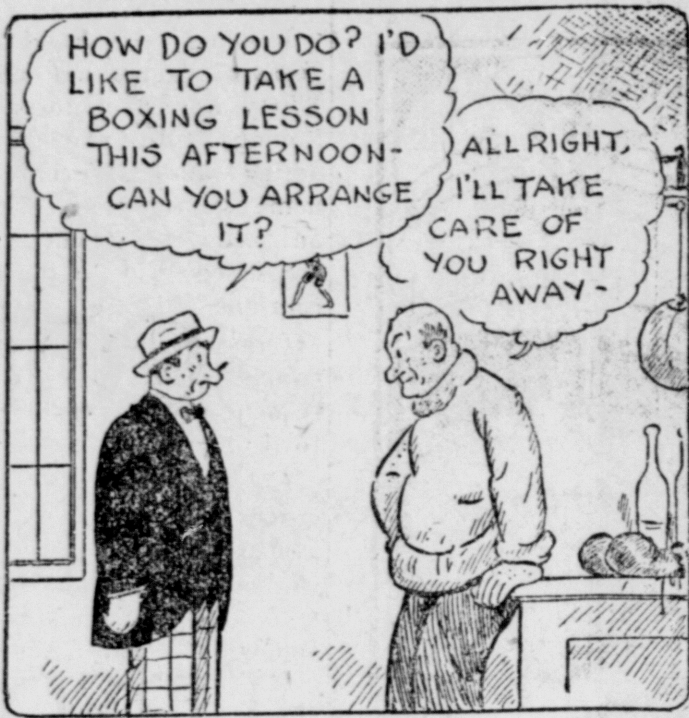

The glory of the land once the center of the civilized world is reflected in these pictures of the historic land of the Pharaohs. The film has won wide praise wherever it has been shown and is sure to entertain local theatregoers.

How Mothers Friend aids Expectant Mothers at Child-birth

THERE are thousands of expectant mothers who undergo much useless suffering for months before, as well as at the moment when delivery occurs. These months of suffering, with nerves and vital organs weakened, leave their effect upon the child. An eminent physician found the way to stop much of this unnecessary suffering—the same easy way which thousands of mothers have used for three generations.

Mrs. Walter S. Hadley, Bridgeport, Ind., says: "Before my little boy came I was so paralyzed in my hips and limbs I could hardly walk, and some days after a little extra exertion I couldn't walk a step. I felt it coming on this time; in fact, I could hardly get up when I sat down, but now, after using one bottle of Mother's Friend, I am so much better. I feel that I almost owe my life to Mother's Friend."

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally to the abdomen, back and hips. It penetrates remarkably, permitting the easier relaxation and distension of muscles, nerves, tissues and ligaments, and their constant easier readjustment during expectancy and at child-birth. Have no more fear or dread, mother! Start using "Mother's Friend" now—the sooner the better.

Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse, and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor, because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

"Mother's Friend" contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. It is safe. For three generations "Mother's Friend" has relieved expectant mothers of much useless suffering. Mother! you must avoid mere greases and useless substitutes. Begin using "Mother's Friend" today. It is sold at drug stores—everywhere.

BECAUSE it is ABSOLUTELY SAFE. We loan on First Mortgages on improved Rushville and Rush County real estate.

BECAUSE we never go over two-thirds the value and generally about one-half.

BECAUSE with every payment our security gets better.

BECAUSE We HAVE NO BAD OR DOUBTFUL LOANS, and if any loss should develop in the future we have a fund of $3500.00 to take care of it. This fund can be used for no other purpose.

BECAUSE the title to the property is investigated and is "good" before we will accept the loan.

BECAUSE we require borrowers to carry insurance to protect us in case of loss by fire or storm, usually to the full amount of the loan.

BECAUSE we are under State Examination the same as Banks and Trust Companies.

BECAUSE our active officers are under a heavy SURETY Company bond.

BECAUSE you can deposit to suit your convenience and you can withdraw in whole or in part WITHOUT NOTICE.

BECAUSE WE PAY 6 PER CENT AND NOT 3 OR 4 PER CENT. If not withdrawn this interest draws interest as it is compounded.

BULGARS INVADE JUGO-SLAV LAND

Possibility Of War Involving These Nations And Italy Agitating European Chancelleries

JUGO-SLAV REPLY DELIVERED

Outcome Of Fiume Controversy Is
Awaited With Some Concern—
Italian View Not Known

(By United Press)
Geneva, Sept. 13.—The Italian government notified Switzerland it cannot accept arbitration of the Fiume dispute between Italy and Jugo-Slavia by the Swiss president, "owing to difficulties which might arise later between Italy and Switzerland."

Athens, Sept. 13.—The Jugo-Slav government has ordered closing of the Serb-Bulgarian frontier following extensive invasion of Jugo-Slav territory by large bands of armed Bulgarians, a telegram from Belgrade said today.

By LLOYD ALLEN
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

London, Sept. 13.—Possibility of a Jugo-Slav-Italian war within 72 hours was agitating the chancelleries of Europe today while they awaited anxiously for the terms of Belgrade's reply to the ultimatum of Premier Mussolini of Italy, demanding acceptance of the Italian thesis for settlement of the Fiume controversy by Saturday.

It was understood the Jugo-Slav reply already has reached Rome and is being studied by the Italian foreign office. The decision of war or peace will depend on the Italian view of the communication.

Great Britain, for the moment, is not directly concerned in the dispute and there is little likelihood she will be personally involved although statesmen realize the dangers of a new general European conflagration.

France is in the most delicate position of the outside powers, since she has close ties with both the little entente and Italy and is sure to create bitter resentment which ever side she supports. It is almost impossible for Premier Poincare to remain neutral.

The chief danger, as viewed by statesmen here, lies in the untrained exercise of Premier Mussolini's enthusiasm for entrance into a campaign of Italian prestige and expansion. This is the program France wants to curb.

Some British circles charge Mussolini with imitation of Napoleon's policy of "blasting up his position at home by external wars. There can be no doubt that Italian patriotism has been stirred to the fever."

TRASH BURNS, ALARM SENT IN

Dense Smoke at Arcade Pool Room
Cause of Run By Department

Trash accumulations burning in the furnace of the Arcade pool room, located on the north side of the court house, provided a fire scare Wednesday night at 8:50 o'clock, when the smoke gave the appearance of a smoldering fire in the business block. The dense smoke appeared to be coming from the Fred A. Caldwell furniture store, 123 East Second street, and the street and alleys were filled with smoke.

An alarm was turned in from box 132, Second and Main streets, which brought out all of the equipment from the fire station, and after the firemen investigated, they returned to the station. Shortly afterwards the chemical truck was called back for a further investigation, and the real cause of the smoke was determined.

FARMER NEEDS NO CREDIT BUT MARKETS

Evans Woolen, Indianapolis Banker
Discusses Agriculture Conditions
Before Relators

HITS INSTALLMENT BUYING

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 13.—The farmers need is not for more credit but for better markets, Evans Woolen, Indianapolis banker, declared today before the Indiana real estate convention.

"The farmer is buying on one price level and selling on another," Woolen said.

"He is paying higher freight rates, more taxes, much more interest and larger wages."

"Prosperity of the nation can not endure if purchasing power as important as that of the farmer is impaired. The two price levels can not be brought together by legislative tinkering."

"Schemes for enlarged agricultural credit are more likely to hurt than to help. The farmer's need is for better markets. His market can be improved only by curtailed and diversified production and by the restoration of European demands."

Woolen declared our financial structure is being weakened by "the unbelievable extension of installment buying."

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 13.—Forty thousand dollars worth of United States certificates were taken from the desk in the Indiana National Bank, this afternoon by a thief, who walked from the bank without detection.

The certificates were negotiable government securities. The certificates were on the desk of Edward Moore, vice president of the bank. According to Frank Stalnaker, president of the bank, Moore left his desk to answer the telephone and when he returned the securities were missing.

Enrollment at this time is 1,058 and last year during the first week of school it was 1,075. ## TWO DESTROYERS LIMP INTO PORT

Sommers And Farragut Not Pre-
viously Reported To Have Gone On
Rocks With 7 Others

HAVE A THRILLING ESCAPE

Both Destroyers Following in Wake
of Ill-Fated Ones, Barely Miss
Meeting Same Fate

San Diego, Calif., Sept. 13.—Nine destroyers, instead of seven as reported ran on the rocks at Point Arguella Saturday night, it was learned today.

The Sommers and the Farragut limped into port here during the night, badly crippled, pumps working to keep water out of their holds and with tales of their thrilling escape from the fate that overtook their sister ships of the destroyer flotilla.

The two destroyers that escaped, damaged, from the peril of the rocks were following in single file the seven that piled up.

Ploughing through the seas at the rate of twenty knots an hour on the fatal night the look-out on the Farragut perceived something had gone wrong with the vessels ahead.

"Man overboard" was his instinctive cry and acting on standing instructions to destroyer fleets in battle formation, the Sommers and Farragut veered off to the right and left in order not to hit the man they believed to be in the water. It was this action that saved the vessels and possibly the lives of the crews.

The pilots were not quick enough, however, to avoid the impending danger ahead and the Farragut collided with the Fuller, one of the vessels now left to die on the rocks, while the Sommers hit another vessel which the crew believes to be the ill-fated Young. The Young later exploded and is believed to contain within its hold the 19 seamen still missing.

After the Farragut struck the Fuller, it ploughed on through the melee of ships and struck the rocks. Quick action on the part of the commander caused it to reverse its engines and the boat managed to drag itself off to safety, although a large hole was torn in its sides.

The Sommers grounded after striking the other vessel and also made its way to safety.

The crews and officers escaped injury. So serious was the damage suffered by both vessels that it took them from Saturday night until yesterday afternoon to reach port.

SNOW FLURRIES REPORTED

Frost And Cold Winds Bring First
Hint Of Winter Weather

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Snow flurries and frost, accompanied by cold north winds, today gave the north west and Great Lakes region first indications of approaching winter.

Snow flurries were reported from Northern Minnesota and Upper Michigan. Frost blanketed wheat fields from Montana to Michigan. Cold winds were especially noticed in Chicago, Detroit and the Lakes country.

Heavy frosts at this time will materially damage late crops, according to crop experts.

The present cold snap will not continue longer than tonight, however according to predictions. Rising temperatures are booked for tomorrow.

WEEKLY REHEARSAL IS HELD

Community Orchestra Prepares For
Concert at Memorial Park

The Community orchestra held their weekly rehearsal Wednesday night in the Coliseum at the city park, and the musicians are rounding into shape rapidly under the directorship of A. P. Wagoner. The community orchestra is making plans to give a free open-air concert in the park, probably the last Sunday afternoon this month.

The musicians number about 30, and they are from this city, and from many points throughout the county. The organization is practicing on some of the latest musical numbers, as well as classical pieces, and there is little doubt but what the orchestra will be equal to any similar undertaking ever formed in the city.

TOTAL TAX LEVIES TO BE KNOWN SOON

May be Computed For Each Taxing
Unit As Soon As State Rate Is
Received Here

IS EXPECTED ON ANY DAY

Noble And Walker Townships Are
Last To File Their Rates, Latter
Making Reduction

Just as soon as the state tax levy for 1924 is made by the state board of tax commissioners and is certified to the county auditor here, rates in every taxing unit in the county for next year will be computed and taxpayers will then be able to determine whether their taxes will be more or less than this year.

All of the taxing units in Rush county have filed their newly made levies with the county auditor, with the exception of Glenwood, officers of which notified the auditor that the combined rate would be the same as this year. They were asked to certify that fact to the auditor.

The last townships to file a notice of having fixed their levies for 1924 were Noble and Walker, and although the former showed a slight increase over this year, the latter made a big reduction. Walker town—Continued on Page Seven

POSTMASTERS OF COUNTY INVITED

All in Third and Fourth Class Urged
to Attend National Convention at Chattanooga

TO BE HELD OCT. 8, 9 AND 10

All third and fourth class postmasters in Rush county are urged to attend the annual convention of the National League of Postmasters of the third and fourth class, which will be held at Chattanooga, Tenn., Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, October 8, 9 and 10.

The welcome typical of the southland is promised the several thousand servants of Uncle Sam who will be in almost complete possession of this historic city during the three days of the labors of the convention.

Indiana enjoys a distinction not given to any other state in the union in the fact that the destinies of the organization are shapely by a Hoosier postmaster, John T. Clapp, of Beech Grove Ind., who fills the position of National President, while Hon. Harry S. New, a distinguished Indianan, is postmaster general in President Coolidge's Cabinet, and Indiana postmasters are being urged to attend the 1923 convention, which, in point of program and general entertainment, promises to make history for the organization. The invitation to Indiana third and fourth class postmasters to attend the Chattanooga convention promises to insure a record attendance from Indiana, which hopes to have the honor of having the largest delegate body in attendance. Reduced fares have been secured on the railroads, while the distance is not so great but that Indiana postmasters who are the owners of cars could make the trip with much profit and enjoyment by following the historic trails which lead to the southern city.

COURT QUIET DUE TO CLOSING CASE

Little Business Transacted On Ac-
count Of Trial Set For Today
Being Unnecessary

$7,500 CLAIM COMING UP

Demand Of Stella Beck Against Estate Of William Eagler To
Be Heard Friday

Little business was transacted in the circuit court today, on account of the Wallace case not being tried, and the jury will be called for service Friday, to hear a civil suit of Stella Beck against the Dagler estate, in which the plaintiff is seeking to recover on a claim.

The Frank Wallace case was scheduled today, but on account of the defendant appearing yesterday and entering a plea of guilty to a count in a liquor law indictment, it caused a vacancy on the court calendar today.

In the suit starting tomorrow, Mrs. Stella Beck is seeking $7,500 judgment on her claim filed against the estate of her father, the late William Dagler, who died in March. She alleges that the money is due her for services rendered her father in his last illness. J. V. Young is the administrator of the estate.

The case may require more than one day, as the plaintiff has summoned about 25 witnesses.

Among the new suits placed on file today, is a divorce complaint in which William Shane, 221 Washington street, is plaintiff and Bertha Shane, defendant. A similar divorce suit was dismissed a few weeks ago. Mr. Shane alleges that they were married June 9, 1917 and separated March 18, 1921.

He charges that his wife used profane and vile language, too vulgar even to be written in the complaint, he says, and that also she was guilty of associating with other men of bad repute, and for immoral purposes, seeking the divorce on these grounds.

The Public Savings Insurance Company is plaintiff in a suit filed today against Earl Bever, et al, in which the insurance company seeks to foreclose a mortgage, and demands $10,000 judgment on a promissory note, which is alleged to be past due, and for which a farm was given as security.

Georgia West has filed a petition in court, in which she desires to have the court change her name to Georgia Newland.

TOWN'S INHABITANTS THOUGHT TO BE SAFE

Terrific Storms And Small Tidal
Wave Wipe Out Jose DeCabo,
Lower California

SUPERSTITION SAVED LIVES

Mexicali, Lower Cal., Sept. 13.—Terrific storms and a small tidal wave that drove in from the Pacific and caused great damage in Lower California over last week-end may have completely wiped out the entire fishing village of Jose DeCabo, according to wireless advices today. The town's 500 inhabitants are believed to have escaped.

Lower California state government officials were without official word of the reported disaster early today.

An unofficial report, picked up by the wireless station here said that a severe storm swept the entire Lower California coast Saturday and that the village was seriously damaged. Relief, it was said, is being rushed from Mazatlan.

Superstitious fear of the coming eclipse of the sun was declared responsible for the fact that no lives were lost. The natives rushed to nearby hills as soon as the mountainous seas arose, believing this fearsome manifestation of nature was connected with the solar phenomenon.

JAPAN SMILES IN FACE OF DISASTER

The following dispatch from Tokio was filed not long after the disaster, but was delayed for many days. Though several days old, it gives the picture of the disaster, its magnitude and Japan's attitude towards it.

By CLARENCE DUBOSE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

Tokio, Japan, (Delayed)—I never knew what the Japanese spirit was like until I saw millions of homeless refugees, vast privations, terrible suffering and indescribable loss visited upon the nation and still not a single whimper audible.

Torn and twisted, the beloved, capital city of the nation, was wrenched into instant wreckage; jumbled in one mad moment into a single huge heap of junk and then burned.

Yet, Japan continues to smile. Already working among the ruins, the spirit that made Japan a great power in half a century, is seen on every hand.

It is the spirit that will rebuild Tokio, although years will be required.

In Yokohama dead bodies clog the canals like logs in a river jam. The congested slums and poorer quarters of both Tokio and Yokohama are thick with half burned corpses scarcely distinguishable from the charred timbers that trapped them.

When the earthquake came, great buildings swayed and pitched like ships in a heavy sea. Then throughout the area of 100 miles or more, from Tokio southward and many miles wide literally every structure crumpled instantly into complete or partial wreckage.

Fire followed and, in a veritable inferno, destroyed almost everything that remained, completely obliterating the heart of Japan's richest business and industrial sections.

In many places the ground buckled up into ridges. Great fissures opened.

Most of the big factories and mills collapsed, each crushing thousands of workers.

The next two nights were hideous. Millions of refugees roamed aimlessly about, carrying a pitiful handful of possessions and paper lanterns—millions of paper lanterns blinking through the hellish night and each representing one family's ruin.

Over the crackling of the fire came shrill voices calling the names of missing relatives, hoping for response—but not one wail of despair did I hear.

PLEGDED KAPPA DELTA RHO

ERNEST WARTHER.
MAKER OF MODELS

Perhaps the most interesting of the exhibits to be carried by the "Service Progress Special" of the New York Central Lines, which is to tour six states in four months, including Indiana, is that of the working models showing the evolution of transportation, made by Ernest Warther of Dover, Tuscarawas county, Ohio.

The train will enter Indiana September 15, to spend a month in the state, and is scheduled to be in Rushville Monday, October 8. The train will be here from one to five o'clock in the afternoon so that everyone will have an opportunity to inspect it.

Correct replicas of each step in engine evolution, from Sir Isaac Newton's "Tea Kettle" which would not run, to the latest type of modern main line Pacific fast passenger.

The exhibits form a complete history of the evolution of transportation and a complete picture of railroad condition as they are today.

Recently in an official announcement, President Harding called upon the people of the United States to make a study of transportation, with special reference to the railroads.

Shortly afterwards, S. J. Lowell, Master of the National Grange, and O. E. Bradfute, President of the American Farm Bureau Federation, by letters urged upon President Smith that authentic facts upon the railroad situation be placed directly before the farmers, in order that agriculture might have been a better understanding of railroad conditions.

President Smith developed the idea of a train of exhibits and directed the Agricultural Department of his railroad to arrange for it. The result is the "Service-Progress Special", which beginning June 18, at Cleveland, Ohio, will for four months travel over the 13,000 miles of New York Central Lines in Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Pennsylvania, and New York.

Up-to-the-minute moving pictures have been filmed, which present every phase of modern railroading. These pictures include the shipping of grain, fruit, and live-stock from points in the middle west.

These moving pictures follow these cars and show just how they are made up into trains and moved to the great interchange terminals and stopping at feeding stations and icing plants and started on to seaboard destinations.

Special arrangements have been

put into effect for visits to the train by scholars of the public and high schools and university students for special study under the supervision of their instructors. Tax officials and other State administrative officers have made many suggestions which have been carried out and are included in the exhibits.

One of the unique features of the train is the exhibit devoted to taxation. People are viewing the great increases in the bonded debt of Federal, State and local governments with real alarm. Within the last few years, taxes and bonded debts have doubled and trebled.

The New School Year

It is "some day," as they say in street talk, when the kids start out for the school house on that first morning of the school term, spick and span in new clothes, and unnaturally clean from much washing, combing, and scrubbing.

An inspiring spectacle, to see all these eager young faces, full of confidence in their ability to do things happy in anticipations of fun and frolic. Also a day of pleasant thoughts for parents, who hope that nine months of schooling will put their young folks a considerable distance along the paths of attainment.

Our citizens contribute liberally to provide good schools. But education can not be bought, paid for, and delivered as you buy groceries and dry goods. You can't turn your children into them like raw material fed into an automatic machine, and expect to get the finished product without effort on your own part. The homes and the citizens must co-operate with the school work.

First, the homes must back up the schools. A school without cordial support from the parents is likely to be as ineffective as a ball team without a good crowd of rooters on the grand stand.

Second, parents ought to have some little idea about the purposes of modern education, so that they will support improved methods. The "Three R's" type of education, was all right for the days of stage coaches, but it won't keep up with an age of automobiles and airplanes.

Third, the public must do its best to retain good teachers. It is a nerve straining job to handle a school room full of restless youngsters in this rapid age. The teacher who inspires those young folks to worthy aims is a priceless treasure. Give her so much appreciation and friendship, that she will hate to go elsewhere even when offered more money.

In such ways the people of Rush county can assist in obtaining schools for our community so superior that young people will go out from them to success and achievement.

WATSON SPEAKS TO IMMENSE CROWD AT KANSAS CITY PICNIC

A copy of the Kansas City Times which is the morning edition of the Kansas City Star, has been received here, giving an account of an address made by Senator, James E. Watson of this city last Friday night at a republican picnic at Electric park, in which he is described as having "poured the proverbial bucket of fire down the back of democracy."

"On the stage," says this newspaper, after describing the setting at the park pavilion, "was Senator Jim Watson of Indiana—By-The-Eternals' Jim—prancing up and down and waving his arms preaching a sermon on Republicanism as it was preached in the days of the torchlight parade and the plug hat statesman—and sermon of political hellfire and damnation."

The crowd was declared to be one of the largest, if not the largest crowd that ever crowded into the park pavilion, being estimated at more than 3,000, and Senator Watson completed with the noise-making contraptions of the amusement park for one and one-half hours. He is reported to have said that he would like to have talked longer, but—"I can't compete with that thing," he explained. "It's tearing my throat to pieces."

Up to that time, however Mr. Watson had discussed the Donkey in a partisan post mortem, and had described in detail the iniquitous symptoms of rabies, with which, he declared, it was afflicted. Also, he had joyfully pointed with pride to the glorious achievements of the Elephant.

The crowd was demonstrative, interrupting Senator Watson repeatedly with cheers and applause. At the very outset, after R. R. Brewster had introduced Mr. Watson as a statesman worthy of the presidency, a man in the crowd yelled:

"We were for you in Indiana, and we are for you now!"

"All right," replied the senator. "That makes two of us. If we keep on, we'll have a party soon!"

The crowd's cheers interrupted the Indianan, but he went on:

"This boom for me reminds me of the time they wanted to nominate Uncle Joe Cannon. Uncle Joe told them they might go a little further and do a damned sight worse. And they did!"

"We are standing on the threshold of a great campaign," Senator Watson said. "The Republican party must prove its right to win. We appeal to our record and challenge the Democrats to appeal to the past."

"When the Republican party took over the government in 1921, there were 5 million idle men in the country. Today every willing hand finds work at a remunerative wage. That, alone, in my opinion, should be sufficient to return the party to power."

The Indiana senator recalled the depression following the war, inherited by the Harding administration from the Democratic regime of Woodrow Wilson.

"When the Republican party went into power in 1921, the railroads had been under government control; the railroads were 'McAdooed.' There were 170,000 more men employed to

upon his head the censure of ministers and reformers yesterday when he asserted that the economic independence of women and their refusal to be dominated by men are contributing to the great increase in divorces.

Social workers in many large centers were interviewed regarding their views of Lindsey's statement and none agreed with his broad assertions. Some were in accord on the view, however, that we can not have a lowering of the old standards of modesty and dress and deportment without a corresponding falling off in the old moral standards.

Reformers and uplifters generally have become very much concerned about the morals of the present generation of young folks and opinions vary to the extent of the alleged degenerating influence of the present age.

Whatever may be the true conditions, it is at least certain that young people are no different than they were in years past. If all that is said of them is true, it is not their fault. They are brought into the world and their destinies are shaped by others. If they fall into evil ways, it is because they have followed an example that was bad.

The responsibility is clearly on the shoulders of parents and all people of mature years who should remember that they may be a model by which some young life is being fashioned.

do the work than ever before." Senator Watson charged that government control was used for political purposes by the Democratic regime; he said wages were increased to get votes, and line up the rail workers for McAdoo for president. The crowd cheered when Senator Watson declared he was opposed to "government ownership of anything." "Government ownership means the politicization of the men employed, and it means waste and extravagance," he said. "If we own the railroads, it would be easy to add the telegraph and the telephone, and finally the farms. That would lead to plutocracy, then aristocracy, then bureaucracy, then socialism, and then you'd have hell!"

Senator Watson then launched into a discussion of the league of nations. At the outset he announced the Republican party was opposed to "dragging America into the league under any consideration." "I had hoped the league would be an agency for peace in Europe," Senator Watson said. "Since the treaty was signed, however, France has invaded the Ruhr and Italy has taken possession of Corfu. This certainly was an act of war and a violation of at least four articles of the covenant. What happened? The council met and solemnly took a recess."

Senator Watson asked the crowd if it desired to have a part in the troubles of Europe and the crowd roared, "No!"

Touching on immigration, Senator Watson said he favored restriction of immigration, and would accept only those who qualified in examinations in their native country before embarking.

The arms limitation conference, called by the late President Harding soon after he went into office, was described by the senator as the greatest movement ever inaugurated among men for the pacification of the earth. He praised the bold spirit of American statesmanship in the conference, and declared President Harding's move for peace entitled him to the "admiration of the earth."

Senator Watson quoted figures to show how the budget system, inaugurated by the Harding regime, had saved the nation billions. He said the expenses would be reduced from 6,400 million in 1920 to 3,000 million in 1924.

In mentioning Iowa, Senator Watson took a jab at Senator Brookhart for attempting to make the farmers believe the "plutocrats are in power," and that the "big interests" are being favored as against the farmers.

Much of the hard times of the farmers, Senator Watson declared, was due to the political methods of the Democrats. In 1920, he said, the Democrats retaliated to G. O. P. charges that the Democrats had caused the high cost of living by calling in loans through the federal reserve banks. The farmers had nothing to pledge, so they had to hurry their products to market, and the bottom fell out.

The Republican tariff law, he declared, had saved the wool and sheep industry and had saved agriculture from utter despair.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO TODAY

From The Daily Republican Monday, Sept. 14, 1908

After being out from 3:55 to 8:10 o'clock Saturday evening, the jury in the Lelair Coleman murder trial returned a verdict of acquittal and the woman who was accused with complicity in one of the most brutal and horrible crimes ever committed in this county, was given her freedom. Despite the desperate effort of her former lover and paramour, Leslie Bundrant, to drag her into the murder of her husband, twelve men who sat through the story related by the self-confessed murderer, voted that the woman was innocent beyond all reasonable doubt.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Continued improvement was noted by physicians today in the condition of Representative Martin Madden, Illinois, chairman of the house appropriations committee, who is suffering from a heart attack. Madden has been notified by his doctors, however, that he must take a long rest and that he probably never can resume the grueling pace at which he worked as chief of the most powerful committee of the house.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 13.—With more than $48,000 of the $50,000 quota for the Jap relief fund already raised, the Indianapolis chapter of the Red Cross today set out to put the city over the top. William Fortune, chairman, believes that the total contributions will be $5,000 or $10,000 above the quota when all workers have thoroughly covered their territory.

KICK RULE IS CHANGED

No Player on Kickers Side May Recover Ball Until It Has Touched
An Opponent

By HEEZE CLARK

(Written for United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 13.—With slight changes football will be played this fall under the regulations governing the gridiron game in 1922.The most important alteration is the elimination of the "on-side" kick. No player of the kicker's side even if he was behind the kicker may recover the ball until it has touched an opponent, except in case the ball did not cross the line of scrimmage.For many years, coaches have been fighting to get the "on-side" kick put out of the game, while other coaches have contended that the kick should be retained because of the possibilities for trick plays.However, it is pointed out that there will be many tricks developed where the ball does not cross the line of scrimmage, and therefore can be captured and carried by a player of the kicker's side who kicked the ball or who was behind the kicker when it was kicked.There has been a slight change in the rule governing where certain penalties are inflicted. Another rule, where new wording makes the meaning clear to officials and players is that of the infliction of penalties for fouls occurring after a touchdown, touchback, or safety.It is made plain that if a foul is committed following a touch down and before the occurrence of another play, the penalty shall be inflicted from the spot of the succeeding kickoff, or if following a touch back, or safety, the penalty shall be from the spot of the succeeding play.The position of players on and behind the scrimmage line has been stated more clearly, and the same is true in regard to "players in motion" before the ball is snapped.A splendid feature of this year's football rules is the section devoted to "approved rulings" which will be a real help to officials.It will improve the officiating and therefore will make football more interesting to both players and the public.

Figures Dempsey in 6 Rounds

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)New York, Sept. 13.—When the gong rang for the first round of the Willard-Dempsey heavyweight championship fight in Toledo on July 4, 1919, Dempsey walked slowly from his corner and circled around the huge Willard. He feinted him five times with his left hand, until Willard stuck out his long left arm.
Dempsey then crashed over a right hand punch under the heart, hooked
a left to the jaw, and Willard went down.Willard was tricked into a trap that he had never expected. He thought Dempsey would rush from his corner and charge into him like a wildcat, and when he didn't Willard was completely bewildered.With Dempsey, that attack was a carefully preconceived plan. He did not do it because Willard was a bigger man. He changed his usual technique because he knew that Willard was not in shape, that the intense heat of the day and the excitement of the moment had his heart almost popping out of his side, and he shot
his first punch at that very evident weak spot—the heart.Luis Firpo would like to know how Dempsey will come out of his corner tomorrow night when they meet at the Polo Grounds. He would like to know what kind of an attack Dempsey will carry against him, where he will shoot at first and how he will work around to it. Thousands of fans would like to know the same thing.Firpo is almost in perfect condition. He is a better man now than Jess Willard ever was. The medical examiner of the boxing commission, who looked him over expressed the opinion that the South American has a better heart than Dempsey.Perhaps Dempsey will shoot his right hand at the heart and hook the left to the jaw. Perhaps he won't.
Only Dempsey knows what he will do, and perhaps Dempsey will not be sure until the breaks of the first round decide his course for him.Dempsey will land the first punch and perhaps the entire outcome of the fight depends on where that firstpunch lands and how much there is behind him.If the champion gets the openings and has his old kick behind the punches, he may finish the fight in five or six socks.Firpo, fighting his usual style,
may require five or six dozen punches. He is not a snappy hitter, there is no one punch knockout in his fists, and he relies upon the effects of a flock of punches to get what Dempsey gets out of just a few.Dempsey ought to beat Firpo to every punch, but he cannot avoid being hit, and if the South American lands several of his wild wings to the body, Dempsey will close a lot of the steam in his blows.Firpo is a very slow starter. It took him eight rounds to get going against Bill Brennan and he looked bad for five rounds of the fight with Jess Willard. In marked contrast, Dempsey is a dynamic starter, and he is able to maintain a terrific speed.Before his fight with Tom Gibbons, some experts, going back to the Toledo fight when Dempsey faded in the second and third rounds against Willard, expressed the opinion that the first hard hitter who could stay six rounds with Dempsey would beat him. But Dempsey went fifteen rounds against Gibbons as fast as any lightweight in the business.Big and strong as he is, hard hitting as he is with his right hand, Firpo is not going to be a sucker for Dempsey. It is permissible to bring in a qualification that he will not be easy if he owns a real game heart and, nothing has been shown in his fights that would justify a belief to the contrary.Firpo may go to the floor several times, but it is going to take a hard punch and a lot of steam to keep him there, and if he comes up many times, as many times as Willard did in Toledo, Dempsey will become a very tired young man.Regardless of what experienced skill and boxing he is said to lack,
Firpo is a natural fighter with a peculiar and, so far, a very effective style. He has done everything that was asked of him and has done it in convincing style.It is a big assignment for him to go against the world's champion and the greatest fighter of the day without more experience but, as has been pointed out, he is about as good now
as he ever will be.Firpo has a good chance to beat Dempsey. He has the best chance of any of the fighters seeking the championship. Willard quit cold when he fought Dempsey in Toledo, and his own density caused him to miss a chance to retain the championship
when Dempsey was not in the ring to answer the gong for the second round.Firpo is just as big as Willard, just as good as Willard and no doubt he has a better heart. He, at least, will fight back and he fights his best when he is hurt and when the going is bad against him.On what they have shown in their fights up to the present time, Dempsey looks like he ought to win in six rounds.But Firpo can't be figured on what has happened before. It's almost sure that he will give Dempsey the hard-est fight the champion has ever had,
and he has a chance to win the title.

LIMITED BY ACCOMMODATIONS

Counting Scalpers Rakeoff, It Is Believed Two Million Will be Spent
To See FightBy HENRY L. FARRELL
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)New York, Sept. 13.—More than a million and half dollars worth of customers will see Jack Dempsey and Luis Firpo do their demonstration of fight against night at the Polo Grounds tomorrow night.The latest estimates from the office of Tex Rickard set the prospective receipts at about $1,500,000 and the attendance at 90,000.Such tremendous interest has developed in the contest between the "mighty" Dempsey and the "mighty" Firpo that the attendance will be limited only by the restricted accommodations at the ball park and the unofficial receipts will be bounded only by what the fans will stand for in the way of extortion from the ticket scalpers.Estimates today after a canvass of the ticket broker offices after the illegal scalpers work set the price which New York and outside points will pay for the fight at close to two million dollars.Tickets from the $5.50 variety up to the tops at $27.50 that have fallen into the hands of the "species" are bringing from $8.80 up to $150. The choice seats in the first eight rows are bringing in five times their value.Some $15 and $20 seats were still available at the box office this morning and some top price seats in the back rows. Rickard said that he felt he would go to the grounds tomorrow night with a "sold out" house.Firpo was installed under an effective guard of countrymen at a Riverside drive apartment today. He arrived last night from Atlantic City
and was hustled out of a big crowd of Latins that had gathered to greet him.The South American was to establish a new precedent for "day before the battle" ceremonies by attending a banquet and love feast to be given in his honor today by the Spanish society of New York. The program called for the donation to him, in addition to large quantities of native food, of many feet of rabbits, shoes of horses, pieces of clover and other good luck things by which it is hoped he can topple over Dempsey.Firpo's plans were not announced for the day but it was learned that he might do a little work on the bri-dle path in Central Park and loosen up at the gymnasium in Madison Square Garden.The champion was not due here until tomorrow morning. He decided upon a boat trip down the Hudson from Albany and will not get in until early tomorrow morning. Dempsey is not going to any banquet in his honor.Odds lengthened today to 3 to 1
that Dempsey would retain his title.
The largest bet offered was $30,000
to $10,000 on the champion and it was being gobbled up in small bites.In the opinion of most of the experts the champion is almost a cinch victor and they are predicting that the duration of the fight will depend only on how much punishment the South American is able to take.Predictions of a Dempsey victory in 3 or 4 rounds predominate, but enthusiasm for the champion may be overcoming better judgment on the part of his friends.Being unskilled and rather inexperienced, Firpo is rightly on the short end of the betting. His chances of winning the title depend almost entirely on his ability to stand up in front of punching. There has been no indication of a weak heart in his previous fights and it is hard to figure why such a big-strong, heavy-hitting fighter should be looked upon as a short round loser.There are too many "ifs" to overcome in doping this fight and there is too little known about how much Firpo can take and as far as that goes it has never been established how much Dempsey can take.On form, Dempsey should win in seven or eight rounds. Whether he will remain to be seen.As long as he is in the ring, Firpo has a chance and the longer he remains on his feet the better his chances will become.

Miss Hallie Keller delightfully entertained the members of the W. W. T. class of the First Baptist church Wednesday evening at her home northeast of the city. Games and contests were the feature of the entertainment for the fifteen members present. Following the social evening delicious refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Mr. Martha Grindle entertained the members of the American Literary Club Wednesday afternoon at her home in North Main street. The meeting was the first meeting held since the summer vacation and was in the form of a get-together party. The responses to the roll call were "Interesting Happenings During the Vacation." Reports were also read from the district convention which was held in the late spring. Following the short business period and program dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Lewis M. Clark was a delightful hostess Wednesday afternoon to the members of the Happy-Go-Lucky club at her home in North Main street. Following the social afternoon a two course luncheon was served, the hostess being assisted by Mrs. N. G. Wills of Connersville and Mrs. Charles Offutt. The home was prettily decorated for the occasion with bouquets of garden flowers. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Clark entertained Dr. and Mrs. Wills and children Ruth and Clark of Connersville and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Offutt at a prettily appointed dinner party.

Whitesides and son Donald, the former being the son of the bridegroom. The bride is well known in the Raleigh vicinity and Mr. Whitesides is a farmer of Hancock county. Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Whitesides went to his home where they will reside.

Officers for the following year were elected as follows: President, Mrs. Richard Beale; first vice president, Mrs. John Boyd; second vice president, Mrs. John Megee; secretary to be supplied; treasurer, Mrs. Bert Simpson. Mrs. Herman Jones was chosen assistant secretary and the secretary will be named at the next meeting.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 13.—A baby girl weighing fifteen ounces died at University Hospital today after the father, J. T. Parkens had carried the child one hundred miles in an automobile, from Wetumka, hoping medical skill and science would be able to keep the spark of life in the tiny body.

Parkens encountered muddy roads and difficulties with his automobile was seven hours on the trip. While driving, the baby, nine inches long, was pillowed on a hot water bottle and clothed in a shoe box, which Parkens carried on his lap. When he arrived here the child was alive and was the smallest living patient ever received at the hospital.

Physicians were unable to save the baby's life and it died a few hours later.

DOCTORS WANTED TO OPERATE

Mrs. Quillen Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her from an Operation

Muskegon, Michigan.—"After doctoring for eight or nine years with different physicians without any relief at all, they said at last that medicine would not reach my case and I should have an operation. I had heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and often saw it advertised in different papers where some women had suffered just as I did and got well and strong again by taking the Vegetable Compound. I decided to see what it would do for me, and before I had finished the fourth bottle I was much better, the weakness stopped and the severe pains in my sides left me. I am now much stronger and do my own work and work in the factory besides. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound and give it all the praise." —Mrs. NELLIE QUILLON, 17 Morris St., Muskegon, Mich.

Women should heed such warning symptoms as bearing-down pains and weakness, for they indicate some female trouble, and a persistent and faithful use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will seldom fail to help.

How Mothers Friend aids Expectant Mothers at Child-birth

THERE are thousands of expectant mothers who undergo much useless suffering for months before, as well as at the moment when delivery occurs. These months of suffering, with nerves and vital organs weakened, leave their effect upon the child. An eminent physician found the way to stop much of this unnecessary suffering—the same easy way which thousands of mothers have used for three generations.

Mrs. Walter S. Hadley, Bridgeport, Ind., says: "Before my little boy came I was so paralyzed in my hips and limbs I could hardly walk, and some days after a little extra exertion I couldn't walk a step. I felt it coming on this time; in fact, I could hardly get up when I sat down, but now, after using one bottle of Mother's Friend, I am so much better. I feel that I almost owe my life to Mother's Friend."

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally to the abdomen, back and hips. It penetrates remarkably, permitting the easier relaxation and distension of muscles, nerves, tissues and ligaments, and their constant easier readjustment during expectancy and at child-birth. Have no more fear or dread, mother! Start using "Mother's Friend" now—the sooner the better.

Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse, and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor, because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

"Mother's Friend" contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. It is safe. For three generations "Mother's Friend" has relieved expectant mothers of much useless suffering. Mother! you must avoid mere greases and useless substitutes. Begin using "Mother's Friend" today. It is sold at drug stores—everywhere.

12 GOOD REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD HAVE AN ACCOUNT WITH THIS STRONG ASSOCIATION

- BECAUSE it is ABSOLUTELY SAFE. We loan on First Mortgages on improved Rushville and Rush County real estate.
- BECAUSE we never go over two-thirds the value and generally about one-half.
- BECAUSE with every payment our security gets better.
- BECAUSE We HAVE NO BAD OR DOUBTFUL LOANS, and if any loss should develop in the future we have a fund of $3500.00 to take care of it. This fund can be used for no other purpose.
- BECAUSE the title to the property is investigated and is "good" before we will accept the loan.
- BECAUSE we require borrowers to carry insurance to protect us in case of loss by fire or storm, usually to the full amount of the loan.
- BECAUSE we are under State Examination the same as Banks and Trust Companies.
- BECAUSE our active officers are under a heavy SURETY Company bond.
- BECAUSE you can deposit to suit your convenience and you can withdraw in whole or in part WITHOUT NOTICE.
- BECAUSE WE PAY 6 PER CENT AND NOT 3 OR 4 PER CENT. If not withdrawn this interest draws interest as it is compounded.
- BECAUSE if you do not own your own home, possibly we can help you accumulate enough to make your payment of a part of the purchase price and we can help you with the balance.
- BECAUSE there are many more GOOD reasons and no BAD ones.

Drop in and see us, maybe we can be of some benefit to you.
We will be pleased to see you.
